

Motor City Electric Co. Over 60 Years of Proven Performance

To Our Many Customers and Employees:

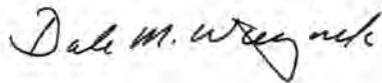

January always signifies a new beginning, a time for both reflecting on past accomplishments and planning for the future. For us at Motor City Electric Co., however, this January is even more significant, since it marks our 60th anniversary in business.

Back in 1952, when Motor City Electric Co. first opened its doors, gas was 20 cents a gallon, the average worker earned $3,400 a year and – on the electrical front – the first “don’t walk” signs were installed on city street corners.

Our first customers knew us as a basic electrical wiring contractor. As our customers’ needs expanded, so did our business offerings. Today, we are a multi-state leader in the industry, offering a wide range of industrial, commercial, utilities and technology services spanning nine divisions.

We have certainly come a long way and that’s due – in large part – to you, our customers and employees. So first, thank you to our customers, who have grown with us, but never outgrown us. And second, thank you to our employees, many of whom have over 20 years within our company and whose expertise we depend on every day.

Although today our work takes us far beyond the city’s borders, we still call Detroit home. That’s where our headquarters – and our hearts – reside. And that’s where we will begin the next chapter of the Motor City Electric Co. story, as we set our sights on exceeding expectations for all of you who have helped us get to where we are today.
